Once I read a sentence—"To make this world a 33 place to live in, rather than the whole world you'd better change your 34." It made me lost in thought. There are so many things around us to go 35 our will. We can't force life to follow our wishes. The earth won't 36 turning when we accept it or not.

What we can do is just to make ourselves suit the world. I think we should learn to 37 welcome what life gives us, the spring sunlight or the winter snowfall, and try to get 38 from it. I have tried to catch every pleasant thing in my life, but I 39 catch most of the pleasant moments, such as being hugged by mother when in fear, being 40 by the teacher when in trouble, being helped by a stranger when 41. I realize that I don't just live alone and that there are others

(A)

Want to know what we can do to help make our city a better place to live in? Why not take part in "Clean & Green Weekend"? Join us, and you can make new friends and help protect the environment at the same time.

Park Life

Do you like hanging out in the park with your friends? If so, why not take the chance to come with us and tidy up the park as you go? To add some fun, there is a gift for the person who collects the most rubbish! Meet us at the south entrance to Taohe Park at 9 am next Saturday if you want to join in.

The Air You Breathe

A great way to make the air we breathe cleaner is by planting lots of trees! It is a fact that trees slowly filter (过滤) a lot of pollutants from the air. So come and help us plant some new ones in Fenhe Park at 2 pm next Sunday.

War on Graffiti (涂鸦)

Some people think graffiti is cool. Well, it is not! The best way to stop buildings from becoming totally covered in ugly graffiti is to get rid of it as soon as possible. And that is exactly what we are going to do. We are repainting the school walls from 1 pm on Saturday. You don't have to bring any tools, just remember to wear some old clothes!

(B)

Donald was not very good at math. He couldn't understand the teacher's explanations. Even when the teacher explained something a second time, Donald still couldn't understand it.

"Never mind," Donald told himself, "I'm quite good at other subjects. I'll cheat in the math exam to get a good grade, then I won't be in trouble."

"I'll sit next to the boy who does best in math," he thought, "and copy down his answers."

The day of the exam came, and Donald sat next to Tommy, who was always at the top of the class in math. Donald carefully copied Tommy's answers onto his own exam paper. At the end the exam, the teacher collected the papers and graded them in time.

Then she said, "well, boys and girls, I've decided to give a prize to the student who got the highest grade. It's difficult for me to decide who I'll give the prize to, however, because two students, Donald and Tommy, got the same grade."

"Let them share it," one of the other students said.

"I've thought about that," the teacher said, "but I've decided to give the prize to one of them."

The students were surprised when they heard this. They said, "That's not fair. They got the same grade."

"That's true," the teacher said, "However, Tommy's answer to Question 18 was 'I don't know' while Donald's was 'Neither do I'."

- (C) 51. Donald wanted to cheat because _____.
- A. he didn't do well in any subjects B. his teacher didn't explain things well
- C. he wanted to get a good grade in math
- (B) 52. Donald _____ during the exam.

- C. Tommy may share the prize with other students

(C)

You have waited 45 minutes for the valuable 10 minutes' break. But when the bell for the next class rings, you can't believe how quickly time has passed. If you have this experience, you'll know how time flies when you are having fun and drags when you are bored. Now scientists have come up with a reason why this happens.

They have found that the brain changes its way to work according to how we direct our attention to a task. When we are bored, we pay more attention to how time is passing. And this makes our brains think the clock is ticking more slowly.

Recently some researchers who want to understand the conditions carried out an experiment. In the experiment, twelve volunteers watched a picture while researchers monitored (关注) their brain activity.

The volunteers were told to first notice how long a picture appeared, then the color of the picture, and thirdly, study the both. The results showed that the brain was more active when the volunteers paid attention to more subjects.

It is thought that if the brain is busy noticing many aspects (方面) of a task, it has to spread its resources, and pays less attention to the clock. Therefore, time seems to go quickly. If the brain is not so active, it spends its full energy on the passing of time. As a result, time seems to move slowly.

Next time you feel bored in class, perhaps you should concentrate on what the teacher is saying.

- (A) 56. What does the underlined word "drags" probably mean?
- A. passes slowly B. runs quickly C. moves actively
- (C) 57. What have the scientists found?
- A. Time goes by fast when we have nothing to do.
- B. The ten minutes' break is important to students.
- C. The brain works in different ways in different situations.
- (C) 58. How did the researchers do the experiment?
- A. By inviting the volunteers to have a long class.
- B. By asking the volunteers to pay attention to a clock.
- C. By monitoring brain activity while volunteers are watching a picture.
- (B) 59. Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage?

- A. We will be full of energy if we're busy.
 B. Concentrating on things is a way to make people less bored.
 C. Time goes slowly when the brain is noticing many things at the same time.
 (C) 60. Which is the best title of the passage?
 A. The best way to save time B. The importance of planning time
 C. The reason for time flying and dragging

VII. 阅读理解 (二) (每小题2分, 共10分)

阅读下面短文, 简要回答所给问题, 并将答案写在相应的位置上。

Sometimes people come into your life and you know that they are there to teach you a lesson, or to help you understand who you are or who you want to become.

You never know these people who may be a classmate, a neighbour or a friend—but when you look your eyes on them, you know at that very moment they will influence your life in some ways.

Sometimes things that happen to you may seem unpleasant, painful, or frustrating at first. But in another way, you find that without getting over those difficulties you would have never realized your ability, strength or will power(意志力).

The people you meet and the success you get help to create who you are and who you become. Even the bad experiences can be learned from. In fact, they are sometimes the most important ones.

If someone loves you, give love back to them in the way you can, not only because they love you, but because in a way, they are teaching you to love and how to open your heart and eyes to things.

If someone hurts you, or breaks your heart, forgive(原谅) them, for they have helped you learn about trust and the importance of being careful of people around.

Self-confidence is necessary to a person. If you're not confident, it will be hard for others to believe in you.

Learn a lesson in life each day you live!

71. Who can influence your life in some ways?

A classmate, a neighbour or a friend (can influence my/our life in some ways).

72. Are unpleasant things good for you?

Yes, they are.

73. Why are bad experiences very important to you?

Because they can be learned from. / Because I/we can learn from them.

74. What should you do if somebody hurts you?

I/We should forgive them.

75. What does the writer try to tell us?

The writer/He/She tries to tell us to learn a lesson in life each day we live. / To learn a lesson in life each day we live.

VIII. 词语运用 (每小题1分, 共10分)

Just look at how much young writers like Han Han and Guo Jingming are loved, we may know writing has become a fashion among today's teenagers.

Gao Can, a 13-year-old girl, is the 76 member of the Association of Writers of Shaanxi. She writes fairy tales, short 77, and most of all, poems. Gao said she began poem writing when she was in primary school. Once the teacher asked the class 78 a composition called "If I were...". Gao had an idea, "Why not make it a poem?" That was her 79 poem, and it won a lot of compliments from both her teacher and her classmates. So far, hundreds of her poems 80 out.

"Writing poems is not difficult at all. Just express 81—what you do, what you see or what you think," said Gao, "I don't have enough life experience, so I write about nature, about things I feel inside."

However, teenagers these days seldom write poems or read them because exams want any kind of articles 82 poems.

But like Gao, there are still students who like poems. Hu Jingzhi is one of them. The 14-year-old boy said he was 83 in poem writing. But it was annoying that he couldn't find many poem collections in nearby bookshops.

Gao agreed with Hu. She said today's bookshops 84 with books on "how to give a successful speech", "how to know what others think" or "how to make money 85".

"Poems won't teach you how to make money, but the beautiful words clear your mind and activate your imagination," said Gao, "At least read poems—for the nice things in life."

Mei is an easygoing girl who gets along well with everyone. She is also talented in performing. What's the most important, she is warm-hearted.

Once she knew a girl in her neighbourhood had so serious an illness that a large amount of money was needed. She put forward a suggestion calling on all the kids to give away pocket money to the unlucky girl. Besides, she organized a charity show to raise more money. When the girl and her parents got the money, they were really moved.

Mei should also put more time and energy into study and try to be a student with both a kind heart and good grades.
